SGA Acts On Student Suggestions

The suggestions committee of the Student Government Association Assembly set up to take action on suggestions and complaints turned in by the student body made its first report to the assembly Monday.

Action taken by the committee is as follows (committee report quoted):

"1. Complaint that the traffic congestion at Lime and Graham avenue presents a serious problem, and that the close parking on University grounds, particularly at the ends of sidewalks, makes walking hazardous.

"Report: Trice talked to Mr. Farris of the department of maintenance and operations. Mr. Farris agreed to contact the city commissioners, suggesting that they paint red lines along the curbing or place appropriate signs to prevent parking on both sides of Graham.

"2. Students of McVey Hall asked if pencil sharpeners might be installed in the hall of that building."

"Report: Mr. Farris consented to install a pencil sharpener on each floor of McVey Hall. He stated that the season more sharpeners are not there is that the students invariably steal them."

"3. Complaint came that the clocks in McVey hall are broken and do not keep correct time."

"Report: Mr. Farris says that new clocks are on order now, and will be installed as soon as possible. The old clocks are beyond repair. Until the new ones arrive, the students must go by the bells, which are correct, rather than the clocks.

"4. It was requested that the chimes in Memorial Hall play between classes."

"Report: Mr. Farris states that the necessary apparatus is now on order."

"5. Several complaints were made about the poor lighting in the library. The students feel that the lamps on the tables are definitely injurious to their eyes."

"Report: The committee found that when the library was built, the plans called for an elaborate system of indirect lighting for the whole building. However, money ran low as the building progressed, and the present lighting fixtures were installed purely as a temporary measure. The indirect lighting is not now possible for the following three reasons: (1) The difficulty of getting personnel to do the work; (2) financial reasons, since the installation would cost approximately $15,000; (3) the necessary materials are not now obtainable.

"The committee plans to take further action on this matter, and will report to the assembly at the next meeting."

"6. The suggestion was made that the shrubbery by Maxwell Place on

By Corky Clark and Jim Wood

We were dealt a very low blow last week. Some evil person, in an attempt to get us in hot water, left us a note in the Kernel newsroom which stated that Marjean Winstup was pinned again—this time to "Jiggs" Davis.

Now, as far as we were able to learn up to this column's deadline, Miss Winstup is still pinless.

Dream Girl conscious Sig Eps are still not quite certain about their Kappa Delta candidate, Jo Ann Belton. It was reported the first of the week that said candidate was pinned to Phi Delta Hugh Hazelp. Some KDs say it's true, others say 'taint so. Come, come, girls, get together. You have some mighty worried Sig Eps.

Here's Lewis Hart (SX) again: Betty Priestly and Joe Holland (SAE) are unpinned. Hart is the third party.

Although not speaking to each other, Dick Youngerman (SX) and Mary Lou Howard (KD) are still keeping their date for the Sigma Chi Sweetheart dance.

Kitty Dade (Delta Delta Delta) is knitting socks for the all-high General Wainwright. It seems that boyfriend Lt. Col. Dooley, the general's aide, was the recipient of a pair of said socks from Kitty and the general took a fancy to them. One promotion, coming up.

When-I-get-my-pin-I'll-give-it-to-you Bill Newmann (Phi Sigma Kappa) is the talk of his fraternity. We once heard about a boy giving away his pledge pin. Would that do, Joyce Lewis?

A blind date has ended in the steady company of Jane Dabney (Delta Zeta) and Gay Pack (Phi Delta Theta).

Philosophical musing of the week: Women are like cigarettes—They come in a pack, get lit, hang onto your lips, make you puff, go out and overhang the sidewalk."

"Report: Mr. Farris has sent the order to have the shrubbery pruned.

According to James Trice, chairman of the committee, many more student suggestions have been given consideration, with action already begun on several. However, the committee would not release for publication any facts until more complete action has been taken.

Members of the committee are: Trice (graduate), Mrs. Katharine Johnstone (ag-home ec), Howard Stewart (engineering), Sue Ann Bradford (commerce), Tom Duncan (arts and sciences), Arnett Mann (law, and Lee Trabue (education).

too, it may be at the end of a long struggle, you have seen it only in transient glimpses—that after doubt comes reverence, after anxiety peace, after faintness courage, and that out of weakness we are made strong. Suffer these glimpses to become an abiding vision, and you have the supreme joy of life."

LeBaron Russel Briggs, long-time professor at Harvard, summarizes from his varied experiences what college can offer.

Editor, Kentucky Kernel:

"UK May Train Naval ROTC"—"Winter Enrollment Will Increase." These two articles appeared in the November 15 issue of The Kernel.

Just how far is this expansion program going? How do the other students feel about this? Personally, I'm against this continued growth of the University for several reasons. In 1940, the University had 3630 students—now the goal is 10,000, from what I hear. Does the president of the University consider the other students when he keeps admitting students "if you can find housing"? This is very unfair to the students here at the present time. Not only will teaching standards drop more, but the already overtaxed facilities, such as the cafeteria, book store, gym, classrooms, and dormitories, will become even more so. Sure we are getting 14 new buildings for the campus to ease these facilities—but what happens after this wave of veterans tapers off? It is quite a problem. What do others have to say on this subject? I would like to know.

—Ted Foster.

College Defined

"At college, if you have lived right, you have found enough learning to make you humble, enough friendship to make your hearts large and warm, enough culture to teach you refinement of simplicity, enough wisdom to keep you sweet in poverty and temperate in wealth. Here you have learned to set great and small in their true relation, to look at both sides of a question, to respect the point of view of every honest man or woman, and to recognize the point of view that differs most widely from your own. Here you have found the democracy that excludes neither rich nor poor, and the quick sympathy that listens to all, and help by the very listening. Here

Wright or Wrong

While making your busy rounds last week you probably noticed one or more signs announcing National Education Week. As one campus wit put it: "Why not have a National Education Week? There are a few good things to be said for education."

It is the blasé attitude of all college students to treat their college education, not as an opportunity, but as something to be made light of. The rationalizers say this is not to be worried over. College students, they say, are really serious-minded young men and women, but they don't like to act that way. I wonder, is it a wonder any student has anything more than a degree to show for his four years of college. And a degree should represent more than a piece of parchment.

Under our present system students are expected to spend two hours of outside preparation for every hour they spend in class. This absurd notion has so bewitched some teachers that they consider classroom time as little more than a period to check the class roll and make assignments. As a further consequence of this type of thinking, all of the students' interest and attention is diverted toward making a good grade. It seems that educators fail to realize that a student can make an "A" in a course without actually learning anything about the subject he is supposed to be studying.

I have just named a few faults and there are many more. It's high time our educational system was re-designed to turn out something besides good mechanics and craftsmen. Students should get a little more out of college than experience. As it now stands, college students spend four years doing what an industrious person of average intelligence could accomplish in six or eight months.

It's time for American educators to get over their war hang-over and realize that this is 1946.

Romance Language Department News

Dr. Blaine W. Schick, a member of the Romance Language department on leave for study in France, writes Dr. Hobart Ryland, head of the department, that he has met several Lexington friends in Paris. At a chance luncheon meeting, Dr. Schick found a very good friend from Lexington who had played with him in the Guignol production, Margin for Error. While they were celebrating such a chance meeting, Dr. Schick was greeted by another Lexington friend who was a captain living in the same hotel.

Dr. Schick says that a pre-war standard of living costing $75 a month now costs $450, with food prices proportionately high.

Dr. Robert J. Niess, of the romance language department has just had 50 articles published at once in the Encyclopaedia of Literature edited by Joseph T. Shipley.

The encyclopaedia is a study of all the important literatures of the world and includes biographical sketches of principal authors. Dr. Niess wrote all the biographical sketches for the French authors included and for most of the Spanish authors.

Dr. Hobart Ryland, head of the department, stated that all literary courses in the upper division had been changed from two to three quarter subjects and that three quarter hours credit would be given instead of four. This was done, Dr. Ryland said, because more time was needed by students for outside reading in these courses.

Miss Margaret Horsfield, assistant professor of romance languages staff who has been on leave this year, will return to the University for the Winter quarter, Dr. Ryland stated.

Record Review

TOPS IN WAX—Spike Jones debuts his "Other Orchestra" on the Victor label. On Minka, the "A" side, George Rock takes some Herbert L. Clark variations on the trumpet to show his technique and skill, then reverts to corn, a la Clyde McCoy, in a "Sugar Blues" style of "wah-wah." George has been with Spike's City Slickers for the past three years and is a show-stopper wherever the Slickers perform. Eddie Kusby is the star of Lassus Trombone, the reverse, and plays with surprisingly fine technique and control. Spike's idea is to put on a "hot" musical listening intermingled with subtle humor without fog-horn and cowbell panie.

EFFECT MUSIC—Jewell records makes another impressive series of Boyd Raeburn releases: "The Man With The Horn," and "Hip Boyd's Prelude To The Dawn" and "Duck Waddle." These four sides are all instrumental and find Raeburn in still another groove. Raeburn collectors will search for adjectives, others will be impressed and the non-listeners will shrug these off. The two "A" sides (Man With The Horn and Prelude) find big band performance of an extravagant nature, highly melodic and surprisingly arranged. Both arrangements for these titles were made by Johnny Richards and do justice to the great musical talent within the band. The "B" sides are purposely along the commercial line but interesting—and understandable.

DANCE—Count Basie goes Dizzy Gillespie. He opens up "Muttin' Leg," an instrumental, with a few be-bops that flank his work on the piano. This progresses to an excellent and outstanding trumpet ride by Snooky Young and some stratospheric sax harmonies by Illinois Jacquet. The record is sparked by the great Basie drummer, Jo Jones. Here is heat enough to last all winter. On the reverse, the Count contrasts with a mild "Fla-Ga-La-Pa," which songstress Ann Moore warbles (Columbia). Capitol's newest release offers the trumpet and orchestra of Billy Butterfield on "Star-dust." The opening is reminiscent of Billy's previous trumpeting of the famous Carmichael opus for Artie Shaw. The whole side contains the Butterfield horn, the first time he has really been heard since the formation of his new band. "Sooner or Later," the reverse, spots more of his Buckett-quality trumpet and a vocal by Pat O'Connor.

VOCAL STANDOUTS—Dootie pairs Bing Crosby with the Jimmy Dorsey band to sing "Sweet Lorraine" and "The Things We Did Last Summer." This offers a welcome relief having Bing do a stint with a name band, rather than a studio group. Columbia also adopts this same policy to pair Dinah Shore with Rhumba King Xavier Cugat. She sings "I'll Never Love Again" and "You, So It's You." Both sides exhibit good taste in singing and arranging without too many noise-makers to spoil the rhythm and atmosphere. Phil Brito makes a campus smash of "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," with his own ban, and reverses it with "Either It's Love Or It Isn't" (Musicraft).

Vote Of Little Man Throws Campus Into Consternation

By Charlie Markham

The Little Man on the Campus (average height: 5-8) was exhausted. A week of screaming and preaching at him by adherents of BVD and P.J. parties, enlisting his support for presidential candidates Hi Fellow and Sidney Waffleburner, was too much. Little Man stumbled to his rabbit hutch on the fifth floor of House CC to sleep it off—for a month, he hoped.

But far below, along Deans' Row, Pub Row, and the smoke-filled dens of the fraternity quadrangle, there was no rest. For so tiring had been the reams of bombastic, Chapel-shaking propaganda about "Give The Laundry Representatives A Chance" and "Our Candidates Made Duke's Mixture Twice—They're Qualified" that Little Man neglected to vote.

In consequence of this fatal failure to exercise his democratic privilege, Little Man had provoked an unprecedented dilemma in the history of Student Goldfish Association (SGA) to confirmed grasshoppers' elections. The election had ended in a dead heat: Fellow 998, Kilroy (the champion of the Little Man) 2. Kilroy had been disqualified at the last minute for over-drawing a P.T. class. The gym was the only place he hadn't been.

The problem furrowed the brow of many a campus insider: PJ Chairman Shady Spot, BVD Boss Noe Kimona, Dean A. K. Chestflexer, and the combined memberships of ODK, BOS, the Chess Club, the Westminster Fellowship, and the "I Been Gyped By Ralph Society." Professor Lemuel C. Hollerwell devoted one of his "Hours of Mystery" to the metaphysical aspects of the deadlock.

Outgoing SGA head Blubber Hubber, a man of action, appointed an investigating committee to knife through to the heart of the deadlock. However, like most SGA investigating committees, its efforts were fruitless. A close scrutiny of the SGA constitution, retrieved from its musty nook in the University vault, revealed no pertinent clause.

Hoochie Jailer, WSGA chief, could offer no word of consolation to her stricken brethren. No constitutional measure provided for a punishment of Little Man, who had forgotten to vote.

Anarchy reigned. The grassy lawns of the camp, unprotected by a watchful SGA, began to resemble the Great Sahara.

But don't fall to put your dough on Little Man. He came through.

When he crawled from his CC tower to the barren dunes below, he was aghast at the grim visages of those politics who, only yesterday it seemed, had jovially greeted him in the Dope Shop or the Union chow line. A massive hulk, who had given him a stick of gum and a free ticket to the Bassett dance, sneered disdainfully. "You did it, Little Man."

"Why, Thug Axter, what do you mean?"

"Everybody knows. You forgot to vote. And after all that gum too! We don't have the SGA any more. Fellow and Waffleburner are tied, 998 to 998. Spott and Kimona are tearing their hair." Axter became more excited, hysterical. "And look at the quadrangles! No more grass," he sobbed.

"Oh, Thug, what have I done?"

CHRONICLE Editor Horace Hodgespodge, analyzing the situation in a three column editorial, proposed a captivating solution. Why not let Little Man cast the deciding ballot at intermission to the Co-ed Ball? If Coach Stonecole Dade would permit it, the stadium could be thrown open for the occasion—dancing under the stars! Politics! Drama! A breath taking spectacle! Thousands of dollars for the Social Standards coffers to provide a chief behind every bush on East!

The idea spread like wildfire. The politics were gleeful, their problems solved. Little Man, the Man of the Hour was winned and dined for weeks. Waffleburner served him breakfast in bed. Fellow performed his math homework. The SGA would live again!

But there is no rest for the weary. With the tense thousands watching,

Ag Conference Held In Memorial Hall

A conference of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics Extension Workers has been held in Memorial hall since Tuesday, November 19, until today, November 22. Mr. T. R. Bryant, Assistant Director of Agricultural Extension, has been acting as chairman.

These conferences are held annually by the Extension Division, and are for the purpose of exchanging views on local problems and developments and improvements in the field of agriculture. Kentucky's 120 counties are allotted 200 county agents and assistants, and 82 home demonstration agents and assistants. Five of these are Negro agents.

As is customary, guest speakers from other schools and the United States Department of Agriculture are invited to come here for the conference. This year we asked Dr. George F. Johnson, Pennsylvania State College; Dr. Edwin Mims, Vanderbilt University; Miss Mary L. Collings, USDA; Miss Elin Anderson, USDA; Mr. J. R. Pauling, University of Missouri; and Director M. L. Wilson of the USDA.

The conference, one of a series of programs designed to benefit Kentucky farmers, will be adjourned after a closing speech by Dean Thomas Cooper today at 11:15.

Time Out!

By O. C. Halyard Jr.

It's not often that a columnist gets an opportunity to pat himself on the back. Instead, he usually has to spend most of his time correcting his mistakes or trying to explain how he was wrong.

Back in the summer when we were riding herd on the football squad and reporting their progress, there appeared in the June 21 issue of the Kernel in this column a paragraph which read:

"All in all, with the squad that's out for practice now, and the others who just recently finished spring practice, Kentucky may have a passing team next season. Remember 70% is usually considered passing."

Well, with the West Virginia victory tucked under their belt, the Wildcats already have a seven out of ten count which gives them a passing 70%. When we wrote the article, we figured the Georgia, Alabama, and Tennessee games as the ones on the deficit side of the ledger.

So far so good. But the team has shown up much better than we figured it would be, and has had little trouble winning in any of the seven victories. Now, only Tennessee, who hasn't looked too impressive this season, remains to be played.

All this and the fact that we just know we couldn't have picked a 10-game card completely right, leads us to believe that an 80% mark for the team is not only possible, but probable. And remember, 80% is darn good.

Any way, win or lose in tomorrow's game, the Wildcats will at least have a passing team. Seventy percent in the first year is more than the alumni bargained for when they hired Coach Bryant.

Coach Bryant and his staff of assistants, Coaches Leslie, Mosley, Baltisaris, Atkinson, and McCubbin have already more than met the demands expected of them. They have given Kentucky a winning team—the greatest we believe in Kentucky history—and have removed us from the welcome mat of the conference.

But to attend one of the pep rallies given by Sukey, a stranger would think that winning football at the University of Kentucky, like final exams, was just bound to be. Students have shown about the same type of interest in pep rallies that they show in finals.

Sure we've had a lot of pep and school spirit at the games, but the team was playing right in front

WBKY Boasts Most Variety On Campus

By Tommy Underwood

A lot of people wander in and out of McVey Hall's two front entrances these days but not too many of them know about "funny goings on" on the top floor of the building. Where else would a young lady dash through an outer office echoing, "I need a radical for a round table?" Where else would one spend an afternoon listening to the latest wit without deviating from his scheduled curriculum? What other department of the University rates fan mail?

The explanation: McVey's top deck houses a radio station, WBKY, UK radio medium succeeds in being informal and more fun than an out-of-town football game.

One evening the University's broadcasting outlet was running a live show. Announcer Hugh Dunbar, equipped with earphones, was listening to the platter he had just introduced. Suddenly Mr. Dunbar ducked away from zooming planes, bursting rockets, and rapid fire ack-ack.

Someone had accidentally plugged the announcer's earphones into a record of sound effects. Another time early in the summer, an unlabeled fifteen minute transcription was being used over the air while an engineer labored over transmitter adjustments on a test broadcast.

A cheery young lady phoned the studio to wish the staff of WBKY a merry Christmas, too. Finally someone found that the transcription being aired was a program of carols.

Johnny Myers was tuning across the low band of his FM receiver on October 16, in Dallas, Texas. Suddenly, he was listening to a program from WBKY. A freak atmospheric condition got the blame for this transmission as WBKY's normal range had been line-of-light, an estimated 30 mile radius.

WBKY's listening public had been limited (not over 1,000 families) by the scarcity of frequency modulation receivers available in this area. But more were coming to the stores.

Commercial stations, including WLAP and WHAS had filed for permission to broadcast FM, but to date WBKY was the only FM voice in Kentucky. The signal output was loud, clear, staticless, but a bigger and better transmitter was soon to be employed to conform with a regulation of The Federal Communications Commission requiring FM stations to transmit on a higher frequency. A tower had been begged from the Lexington police to accommodate a higher antenna.

WBKY's skipper was Elmer C. Sulzer, affable, farsighted head of the newly formed Department of Radio Arts. Mr. Sulzer had previously been connected with the music department and the department of public relations. WBKY was his brainchild. Mr. Sulzer was teaching an introductory course in radio. Discussions of announcing, production and standard studio equipment were influencing members of a large enthusiastic class to choose radio careers.

Guest speakers each an outstanding man in a particular phase of radio work, lectured on Fridays to the radio class. Many of the students wanted to major in radio, if a full scale radio-arts department were to be developed at U of K.

A radio announcing class was being conducted by Lolo M. Robinson, energetic perfectionist, who has been directing UK radio programming for several years. The announcing class, too, was oversized but enthusiastic and learning fast.

Outstanding talent being aired by WBKY on its Monday-Wednesday-Friday night broadcasts were a couple of vets: Jack Fierabend, who plays a fine versatile piano, sings nicely, has written one of his own songs; and Louis Swain announcer with a moon-river voice and a flair for difficult pronunciations and foreign dialects.

Top vocalists were Marjorie Hawkins, who was also doing a program for a commercial station, and Jo Ann Talley. WBKY was calling the football games in addition to its regular broadcasts. Chief announcer O. C. Halyard and other sportscasters Dick Lowe and Al Abramson were handling the games with professional competence.

Chief studio engineer Jimmy Hise, who contracted to build the new transmitter, headed a good staff of engineering students who were handling program engineering.

Three students with service experience in electronics were handling transmitter engineering chores.

WBKY was ready for the FM boom.

Bryant, and with all our efforts, we almost outdid Maryland's demands against your leaving.

We're really thankful. Why aren't we already talking about bowl bids just as if they were annual occurrences? Aren't we talking about OUR great team? Aren't we already threatening sit down strikes unless we get better seats at the games? And hasn't the band and Sukey gone overboard to show OUR appreciation?

Guess it's just human nature.

CAT-VOL SCRAP

Art Shires, all All-Americans, Mike was on the 1940 Rose Bowl outfit that had many other standouts. He also calls this year's Tennessee schedule the toughest, saw the Vols come from behind to whip five of their opponents. Last week's victory in Beantown is a good example of this, for the southerners trailed, 14-0, at halftime before unleashing the attack, which gave them a 33-14 decision over Boston college.

The flanks were manned by Hubbell and Jordan, both towering above the six-foot mark. Hubbell caught passes for the winning touchdowns against Georgia Tech and Duke. His substitute, Powell, is just about as good, grabbed three heaves for all the scoring against Ole Miss.

Huffman: The Man
Left tackle is handled by Huffman, 240-pound athlete who measures six feet, two inches, and is fast, despite his size. He knocked Steve Filipowicz, Fordham great, out of the '42 Sugar Bowl game, and LSA's Alvin Dark, in another tilt. On the right side is Crawford, who is regarded as Huffman's equal.

Guard posts list Price and Drost, both just short of 200 pounds. Stephenson at center completes the first-string line, almost all of whom were on the 1942 Sugar Bowl squad. These forwards, by their blocking, help many a downward march. Too, on two different occasions this year after an interception by Tennessee, every man on the opposing team was knocked down as a Vol back sped goallward.

Backfield Men Aptly
The backfield is rich in depth as well as talent. Baltisaris' brother George may start at full, though Mark Major is the likely nominee. Gold and Hill are other candidates here, making the Vol's fullback berth its strongest in history, not only in the sense of one or two-yard backs for first downs, but all-around gaining. Slater, Lund and Proctor are three tailbacks of triple-threat calibre. Slater will probably start, but Proctor is credited with winning the last two games.

At blocking back is Charlie Mitchell, with Jack Armstrong for relief. Wingbacks are Hillman, Chauncey and Parton, all fast, hard runners who are particularly able in reverses. The Vols employ a balanced line with a single wing, use their quarterback under the center much in the manner of a "T."

Kentucky needs offer no excuses for the lineup which has carried it to its best record in 34 years. The Cats are in excellent physical condition; only absentee Saturday will be Jack Farris, out since early season. Coach Bryant has called for little heavy work in practice this week, among other reasons because his lighter line will be in for a beating against the heavier Tennessee forwards Saturday. The Cats have "walked" through signal drills, avoided contact work almost entirely.

The Wildcats have been given a look-see by Vols coaches, too. Johnny Mauer, former Kentucky basketball coach, now Tennessee court strategist, watched the Cats in six starts. Britton saw them in another.

Last Game For Four 'Cats
Three Kentucky seniors will be playing their last college game. These are Phil Cutchin, team mastermind and ace passer; Charley Bill Walker, second-string center, and Jesse Tunstall, back. Another senior, Bill Portwood, will not be in uniform because of injuries.

The Wildcats will leave tonight, their special Pullman will be sidetracked at Knoxville, where they will stay until game time.

"Mama, what happens to a car when it gets too old to run any more?"

KASV Plans Drive To Buy Recreation Center For Veterans

The executive committee of the Kentucky Association of Student Veterans has approved a plan for a state-wide drive for funds to enable the purchase of a veteran's recreation center for Kentucky State college, Howard Bowles, president of the UK Veterans' club announced Monday.

Bowles said he had appointed a committee of four members of the association to organize the drive under the chairmanship of Frank Dorell of the University of Louisville. Other members are: John Gherman, Centre college; Bill Barnett, Eastern State Teachers college; and Louis Carter, Kentucky State college.

A building two stories high and measuring 100x100 feet will be requested from the Surplus Material board when sufficient funds are available, he said.

WAA Allocates UK Additional Buildings

Fourteen barracks and two recreation buildings from Bowman field in Louisville have been allocated to the University by the War Assets Administration.

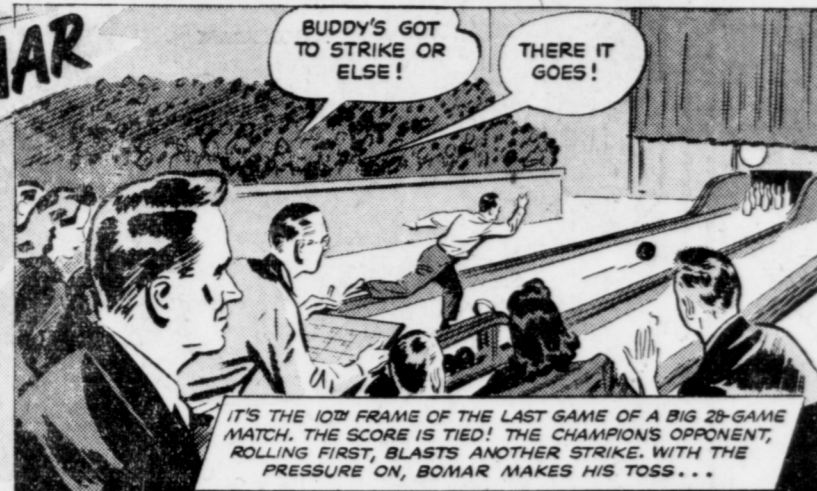

This is the second allocation made upon request for emergency facilities in September. The two recreation buildings are believed to be in request for additional physical education facilities for the school's overflowing student body, with barracks designed for class room space.

Each of the buildings is two stories high and has a capacity of approximately 2,000 square feet.

FROM THE GREEKS

By Janet Sulzer

Nothing has been planned for this week-end here in Lexington by the sororities and fraternities.

The KA's are having a post-game celebration(?) in the Andrew Johnson hotel in Knoxville, tomorrow. Cas Lane is making the arrangements. Bill and George Griffin will hold open house at their home near London for the KA's returning from Knoxville Sunday.

The KD's entertained with an open house for the Phi Dels and Kappa Sigs last Saturday afternoon. Thursday, the KD alumni had a benefit bridge at the chapter house.

The Sigma Nu's were guests of the Delta Zetas at an open house Friday afternoon.

The Kappa Sigs held their fall formal Friday night at the Lexington Country club. Bob Bleidt's orchestra played. The arrangements were made by Bob Kaiser. About 200 guests were present.

The new ATO initiates were guests at dinner at the Phoenix hotel Sunday evening. A buffet supper and open house were given by the ATO's following the West Virginia game.

Bill Lamb, social chairman, made the arrangements. The Delta Zeta pledges entertained the pledges of other sororities Thursday afternoon. Carolyn Davis and Peake Shehan were in charge of the arrangements.

The Dels entertained their dates with a buffet supper and house dance after the game Saturday. Jack McNeal and Ted Beck were in charge.

Sunday, the Delta Zetas will have a tea in honor of their housemother, Mrs. Timothy Pennington. Pat Hine is making the arrangements.

Although the emphasis has been on interfraternity relations this month, the Sigma Nus by inviting the Kappas to use the SN house for a Kappa open house, have set a precedent that is already being eagerly followed by other fraternities. Rumor has it that several other of the frats immediately offered their houses to the Kappas and then fretted for not having thought of it first.

After the SN open house it was heard that the Dels were next to offer their house and services.

The 1947 Dream Girl of Kentucky Alpha of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity will be presented Friday night at the chapter's annual formal dance which will be held at the Lexington Country club.

The Dream Girl will be selected from candidates representing 10 social sororities at the University. The presentation ceremonies will be broadcast over Lexington radio station WKLX. Miff Moel and his orchestra will play for the dance.

The 10 candidates are Jo Ann Belton, Kappa Delta; Mary Keith Dosker, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Ann Carter, Zeta Tau Alpha; Suzanne Hannahs, Alpha Delta Pi; Elizabeth Walters, Alpha Xi Delta; Carolyn Moore, Chi Omega; Ann Grey, Delta Delta Delta; Mary O'Neill, Alpha Gamma Delta; Ann Creech.

Kappa Alpha Theta, and Mary Lee Stamper, Delta Zeta.

The KD's entertained last Saturday afternoon with an open house for the Phi Dels and the Kappa Sigs.

Thursday the KD alumni held a benefit bridge at the chapter house.

Tulane Game First For UK Students

Coach Adolph Rupp's Southeastern basketball champions get their season under way next week with Thursday and Saturday night games in Alumni gym. Though the schedule opens Thursday night against Indiana Central, the starter from a student standpoint will be the weekend go against Tulane, for this is the first tilt assigned to UK enrollees. It is in the A group of games, for which odd-numbered activity books are good.

The Thanksgiving night inaugural has been allotted to the public because of Alumni gym's limited seating space, will be the second part of a sports double-header. Murray and Henry Clay high schools will meet in the annual Shrine football game on Stoll field that afternoon.

The Hoosiers won six, lost eight last year, are expected to employ the fast break so typical of Indiana basketball. The Indianapolis school was signed after about 20 schools had been contacted, according to Bernie Shively, athletic director.

Tulane brings a much more impressive record, having won 15 and lost only six in court campaigning last winter. The Green Wave is annually among the better SEC quintets.

Coach Rupp has not decided on a starting lineup. Jim Jordan, All-American at North Carolina here; Alex Groza, standout here prior to Army duty; Bob Brannum, All-American here before service in Hawaii; Ken Rollins, regular on the 1942-43 'Cat five; Buddy Parker, another letterman; Joe Holland, from last year's team and Jack Tingle, star for two seasons are among those sure to see action.

WAA NEWS

The Kappa Deltas won the women's volleyball tournament Tuesday afternoon, defeating the ADPI's in the finals, 38-22.

Seven sororities entered competitive play. Friday Thetas battered out a 47-25 win over the Alpha Zeta's. ADPI's nipped the Chi O's 24-21. Monday the KD's out played the Tri Deltas and Thetas, 48-12 and 47-31, respectively. In the lower bracket, the ADPI's gained a berth in the finals when the Delta Zeta's forfeited Tuesday.

Good sportsmanship was displayed by every sorority. Outstanding girls when the chips were down included Kassenbrach Si Vaughn, Mary Ann Hunter, Sue Crosby, Betty Lee, and Newman.

Turning to badminton, Stokes and Shropshire teamed to defeat Wilde and Reynolds in the doubles finals last week. The winner in the singles depends on today's game between Reynolds and Stokes.

The WAA'ers have pieced their battered-from-hockey-bodies together and quieted down to volleyball. All members or others are cordially invited each afternoon at 4:00 in the Women's Gym.

"Wah-Wah" Jones will trade his moleskins for cage togs next week, when he joins the basketballers. He was a starter on last year's quintet that won the Southeastern conference championship and the national invitational tournament and 28 of 30 games.

Again the Sigma Chis are presenting a strong aggregation, along with the Sigma Nus. Both teams are undefeated. Other teams that are showing well in the round-robin play are the SAE's, Phi Taus and Phi Sigma Kappas.

SX, SN Undefeated In Volleyball Play

As fourteen teams entered in the volleyball tournament continue to meet on the hardwood court, it becomes more and more apparent which teams will play in the elimination tourney.

Only two more nights of play remain in preliminary bouts. After that the top four teams in each division, according to their win-loss percentage will be seeded in the tourney for the trophies.

Senior intramural manager, W. W. Cooper, said he hoped to have drawings made and be ready to start final contests on December 2. This would wind up the tourney before final exams start.

Finals in the tennis singles and doubles still remain to be played. Cooper said the final meets would be held just as soon as possible, and requests contestants to keep in touch with the intramural office. As soon as the winners are determined, presentation of trophies will be made.

Winter quarter intramurals will begin soon after the start of the quarter. Basketball will be featured, with boxing and wrestling. Plans for additional winter sports are being made.

Information gives YOU the answers... who gives them to HER?

A lot of people take the Information Service of the Bell System for granted. Little do they realize what it takes to answer some two and a half million questions during a normal day.

Of course it takes operators... over 12,000 highly skilled "Information" operators.

But, in addition, it takes a staff of trained executive personnel.

They plan this service for cities and towns across the country so that "Information" can quickly find the latest listings of the many telephones within her area—from records that are brought up to date daily. And it is they who study operating methods and equipment in the never-ending search to make this service ever faster, ever better.

Is it any wonder that today, more than ever before, management is interested in young men with imagination and ambition... men to develop with the industry?

Henry Clay, Murray In Shrine Game

The Shriners' annual Thanksgiving Day tilt pits Lexington Henry Clay against Murray high Thursday on Stoll field. Net proceeds go to the Lexington Crippled Children's hospital.

Adolph Rupp, UK basketball coach, has been chairman of the event since it began several years ago. Then Western Kentucky all-stars met an eleven of Eastern Kentucky standouts, but this was abandoned in favor of better team play by a group that has played together all season. Murray, however, represents the first Western Kentucky school to accept a bid. Last year Frankfort topped Middlesboro. Henry Clay has appeared in the past-season feature before, having topped Harlan in its last try.

The local Blue Devils of Coach John Heber won their third straight Central Kentucky Conference title this fall, were defeated only by Holmes high of Covington, 12-6. Murray, winner of seven out of eight, was tied in an upset by Russellville, 7-7, completes its scheduled season against Paris, Tenn., this week.

Guignol Did It Again

By Casey Goman

This is the tenth Guignol review I have written since I entered the University, and, as always, Guignol did it again. Did it again, that is, and turned in an excellent performance.

Dunster Pettit, as Catherine Apley, dominates every scene in which she appears, and the regular first nighters tell me that that is a habit of hers, for she is a member of Guignol of long standing.

Ed Mills, with his facility for becoming the person whom he is portraying, is a smooth and convincing old line Bostonian—even George Apley himself would approve, I think.

One of the finest characterizations on the set is that of Jane Willing. Her lines are pithy, and Mrs. Hatchford plays them well.

The set for The Late George Apley deserves mention, too. It is attractive, as are all Mr. Fowler's sets, and, in the main, authentic. There has been discussion over the one-color woodwork and walls, with the authenticists maintaining that the woodwork should be dark, but my vote stays with the set, as is.

John Rehm, Jack Fenton, Frank Johnson, Dabney George, James Snyder, Marjorie VanArsdale, Douglas Hancock, Alice Dean, June Bridges, Phillip B. Bell, George Herndon and J. Reid Sterrett, with Ralph Carter taking Mr. Sterrett's part Friday and Saturday nights, complete the cast.

Frank Fowler, director, and his associate, Wally Briggs, did it, and it is exceedingly seeable. And, it will run all next week, with the exception of Thanksgiving day. Tickets on sale at the box office.

Many Memories Of Vol Games Among Kentucky Coaches

Not only does the Tennessee-Kentucky game represent the Wildcat's "game of the year," but the renewal of an old rivalry to six of the seven coaches. The seventh mentor—and coach Mike Baltaris—is a former Vol star himself, flanked against the 'Cats from 1939 through 1941.

Head man Paul Bryant, assistants Frank Moseley and Carnay Laslie, became exponents of the "Beat Tennessee" theme while playing for Alabama's Crimson Tide. Ted Atkinson, three-year letterman at Vanderbilt and captain in 1941, also regards this as much more than a game, for the Commodores and Vols are bitter interstate rivals. Bill McCubbin and Eral Allen saw too many Vol victories while Wildcat warriors themselves.

Baltaris has scouted every Tennessee game this year, has been around so much that some Volunteer fans probably think he has stayed on as a coach. A victory over his old mates would be pleasant potition for the Pennsylvanian in his first year as a coach. Six of his former teammates, Drost, Mitchell, Price, Hubbell, Slater, and Gold, are still on the Tennessee roster. Price and Drost will start at guards, Hubbell at left end, Mitchell at quarterback and Slater at left half in Saturday's game.

The "Bear" has the most enviable memory of Tennessee outcomes, for the '32, '34 and '35 Bama teams he played on topped the Vols every season. Moseley's mates had less luck against the Tennesseans, losing in Mose's sophomore and junior years, but winning in his senior try. He and Bryant played together in 1933. Laslie also saw two Tennessee triumphs over Alabama in his career at the 'Capstone, the same defeats that Moseley remembers, for the two were teammates in 1931 and '32. Laslie's first year on the varsity included a win over the Vols, however.

Vandy's Atkinson and UK's Allen and McCubbin have never seen their buddies on the winning side of a score against Tennessee. The closest Allen ever came to success was in 1941, when he flipped a pass to Bill Portwood early in the game for Kentucky's first score against the Vols since 1936. The tally put the 'Cats ahead for short-lived joy by their followers, before the Volunteers came back to achieve a 20-7 success.

Phelps, Cutchin, Big Claws TOP STATISTICS

"Dopey" Phelps leads Wildcat gridders in three departments of individual statistics—total points scored, kickoff returns and punt run backs. The outstanding freshman has tallied 42 points on seven touchdowns. Phil Cutchin ranks second with 35, of which 20 have been counted on conversions. A field goal and two touchdowns complete his total.

Wallace Jones, flashy flanker, runs third with 30, all via pass catches. Fullback Bill Chambers and Jack Farris, out since the Georgia game with injuries, have 18 each to tie for fourth. Jim Kenard and Gene Meeks have registered two six-pointers each. Charlie Bentley, George Sengle, Dennis Rice, Ben Heininger, Norman Klein, Bill Portwood, Jerry Claiborne, Dick Hensley have a touchdown apiece. Bill Schaffnit's blocked punt against Xavier, Bill Bolter's four conversions complete Wildcat scoring, except for one marker Eral Allen ran across before his ineffectuality.

Cutchin is far ahead in passing, is second in punting. He has tallied 403 yards on 25 tosses, has kicked 28 times for 1011—an average of 36.1. Bolter is second among tossers, having heaved 11 times for 160 yards. George Blanda leads in punting after his 25 boots that have scored 1029 yards for an average of 39.6 per kick.

Jim Kennard's 166 yards in 26 tries—an average of 6.3 per effort—leads in this department. Phelps has gained 261 on 45 occasions for a 5.8 average. Carl Genito with 4.5, Chambers with 4.4, and Bill Moseley with 4.2 follow these two.

Phelps 42.3 average on 3 kickoff returns leads Chambers, who has run back seven for 229 yards and a 32.7 mark. "Dopey" is far in front on punt returns, however; he has traveled 242 yards in 10 times, an average of 24.2 per gallop. Rice with 15.5 in eight runs that garnered 124 yards, Meeks with a 11.3 average from six returns that netted 63 yards are other leaders in this phase of play.

Phelps, Cutchin, Big Claws In 'Cat Win Over W. Va.

By Baxter Melton
Kernel Sports Editor

Tennessee's Volunteers will probably be "half-minded" in Saturday's Knoxville fray since Kentucky's scoring punch seems concentrated at these positions. Phil Cutchin at left half is the team's ace passer and field general; "Dopey" Phelps at the right one is leading point-producer with 42, tallied both markers as the 'Cats won, 13-0, over West Virginia's Mountaineers Saturday in the 1946 home finale on muddy Stoll field.

Despite a steady drizzle, a near-capacity crowd was on hand as Kentucky registered its seventh success in nine starts and its best won-lost record since 1912. Passing was held to a minimum by the slippery pigskin, uniforms were so dirty it was difficult to tell who was who. Once in the third quarter on a Statue of Liberty play, when Phelps took the ball from Cutchin, many fans thought a Mountaineer had taken the pigskin, Phelps' jersey was so muddy. Another indication of weather's effect was the low total of pass attempts. The visitors tried eight, one more than the Wildcats, and each eleven completed two.

Cutchin Valedictory
"Twas a brilliant valedictory here for Cutchin, as the Murray senior

227,300 FANS SEE WILDCATS

Including the 40,000 that will see Kentucky against Tennessee in Knoxville Saturday, the Wildcats will have played before 227,300 spectators in their 10-game schedule—more than twice the 104,000 total of last year.

Though complete statistics are not available for other years, it is believed that this fall's figure is a record. Coach Paul Bryant's little boy blues have attracted 99,900 fans five games on Stoll field, 128,000 to an equal number on the road.

Once again UK's need for a larger stadium is graphically illustrated. Of the five home contests, three—Mississippi, Xavier and Vanderbilt—were sellouts, the Michigan State fray would have been, but many thought all tickets gone. The West Virginia tilt could have easily reached a "Sorry, all gone" stage, except for rain.

Two road trips produced sellouts—at Cincinnati and Montgomery—were the first in history at either city. Saturday's finale will probably be in this class by gametime, as 40,000 total will represent the largest crowd the Wildcats have performed before all season. The Marquette melee drew the smallest gathering—12,000. Milwaukee is not a football town though; Notre Dame, Northwestern, Michigan and Illinois are all too close with weekly big games.

By games the attendance was as follows: Mississippi, 19,000; Xavier, 20,000; Vanderbilt, 21,000; Mississippi State, 19,500; West Virginia, 19,000; Cincinnati, 27,000; Georgia, 17,000; Alabama at Montgomery, 23,000.

will end his collegiate career at Knoxville. He flipped the second touchdown to Phelps, made his twentieth conversion by adding a point after the first score. He ranks second to Phelps' pace-setting total with 35 tallies, garnered on two six-pointers and the game winning field goal against Vandy, in addition to his points-after-touchdown. Other seniors who donned uniforms for the last time here were Jesse Tunstall and Charley Bill Walker. Bill Portwood, injured end, did not dress.

Danville's Donald sent Kentucky ahead before five minutes had ticked away, when he ran wide around left end to score standing up. He had set up the counter by a 63 yard run to the 12, after a Mountaineer kick. For a moment it looked as if the Boyle Bullet would make it his third straight game for a kickoff return to the end zone. Cutchin had received the punt and handed it to "Dopey," who utilized good down-field blocking. Bill Chambers gained one yard on a line buck before Phelps' end sweep. Cutchin's dependable place-kicking added the extra point.

Fumble Sets Up Second
A mountaineer miscue helped Kentucky to its second six-pointer. Joe Kuhayda's fumble on his own 25 was recovered by George Blanda. Chambers' slipped on the slippery so, but Phelps grabbed Cutchin's, heave on the next play and fought off two tacklers to go goalward. Cutchin's try went wide.

George Freese took Blanda's kickoff and turned in the best Mountaineer run of the game. The freshman back shook off several tacklers in reaching his own 33, but this march later ended at the visitors' 41, when Freese fumbled and Len Preston recovered for Kentucky. Preston, by the way, proved that linemen can carry the ball by gaining a yard from his guard snot in a tricky play of the first half.

Jones' Catch Best
The best pass catch of the contest was credited to "Wah-Wah" Jones, who made a shoestring stab of Cutchin's toss in the third period. The play netted 21 yards when the Harlan "hanger-onner" reached the Mountaineer 23-yard stripe. The next two plays illustrate the "mid story." After the Statue of Liberty maneuver, "Cutch" flipped to Jimmy Devonshire of the visitors thinking he was Jones, Devonshire's jersey was so smeared. The visitors' back was yards from anyone, so Kentucky's goal drive ended after reaching the Mountaineer sixteen.

Coach Paul Bryant calls the game Kentucky's best performance all year. Though the game was not as interesting from a spectator's viewpoint, the 'Cat mentor was especially pleased with the way Kentucky's forwards outplayed the heavier West Virginia line. Leo Yarusit and Bill Griffin were standouts, though no credit can be taken from any lineman. Bryant also liked his boys' "playing close to the belt after getting in the lead." The backs' handling of the slippery ball and Cutchin's passing were other notable features, he believes.

Then there's the story about the soldier from Alabama who was reading a letter from his maiden aunt—a fiery unreconstructed Southerner. It seems that the recent conflict had induced the little lady to think a little more kindly about the northern portion of the country. "Gee," exclaimed the Alabama boy "I see Auntie is back in the Union at last."

"Really?" asked his buddy. "Yes," he replied "when she writes the 'United States' she no longer puts 'United' in quotation marks!"

MUSING with Melton

By Baxter Melton, Kernel Sports Editor

The old saying of "Anything can happen and usually does" is particularly applicable to the Kentucky-Tennessee football feud which has its forty-second renewal in Knoxville Saturday. These "side-shows" are not necessarily confined to the game itself, as a resume of past performances will show.

"Shipwreck" Kelly, as colorful as he was capable, is the subject of many tales about the "good of days." "Shipwreck's" doggedest deed probably came in the 1931 'Cat-Vol clash, when he ran up into Stoll field box seats to avoid Tennessee tacklers who allegedly were "laying for him." The "Wreck" is better remembered by the neighboring states, though, as a leading penman in the sad stories—from a Vol view—during his years on the varsity.

'Cat Wins Costly

In that '31 game Tennessee could have won undisputed championship of the Southern conference—the Southeastern was two years away—by topping Kentucky. The Tennesseans were held to a 6-6 tie by the Wildcats, led by Kelly and Ralph Kercheval. Kercheval became one of the greatest all-time kickers, played professional ball almost a decade after leaving Kentucky. "Shipwreck's" most recent news note was his marriage to Brenda Frazier, New York debutante and heir to millions.

From 1929 to 1931, however, "Shipwreck" probably thought as much of wedding bells as he did the Siberian garbage situation. 'Twas Tennessee in particular among football foes he mused about. Those three seasons were the hey-day of Hackman and McEver. Tennessee's "tweedown twins," more commonly known as "Hack and Mack." Both made All-American selections, were kingpins in the Vol offense. Quarterbacking for Tennessee then was Bobby Dodd, now head coach at Georgia Tech.

The Wildcats had also knocked the Volunteers out of a conference title in 1929 by another 6-6 tie. Tennessee would have shared loop honors with Tulane, except for that result. That was the tilt played in a snowstorm; McEver, back in safety position, rolled snowballs all afternoon as the two lines waged a great defensive battle.

And The Beer Keg
For many years an old beer keg has gone to the winner of the annual game. It rests near the Vols' bench one half, the 'Cats' the other. Tennessee failed to bring it to Lexington last year, but will no doubt have it at Shields-Watkins field Saturday. (Maybe they've had ownership so long, they take things for granted.) Several years ago Lexington WCU officials objected to its being called a "beer keg," the title of "water keg" was applied. The more popular version couldn't be suppressed, however, and the barrel's one-time malt contents were once again revealed in the name.

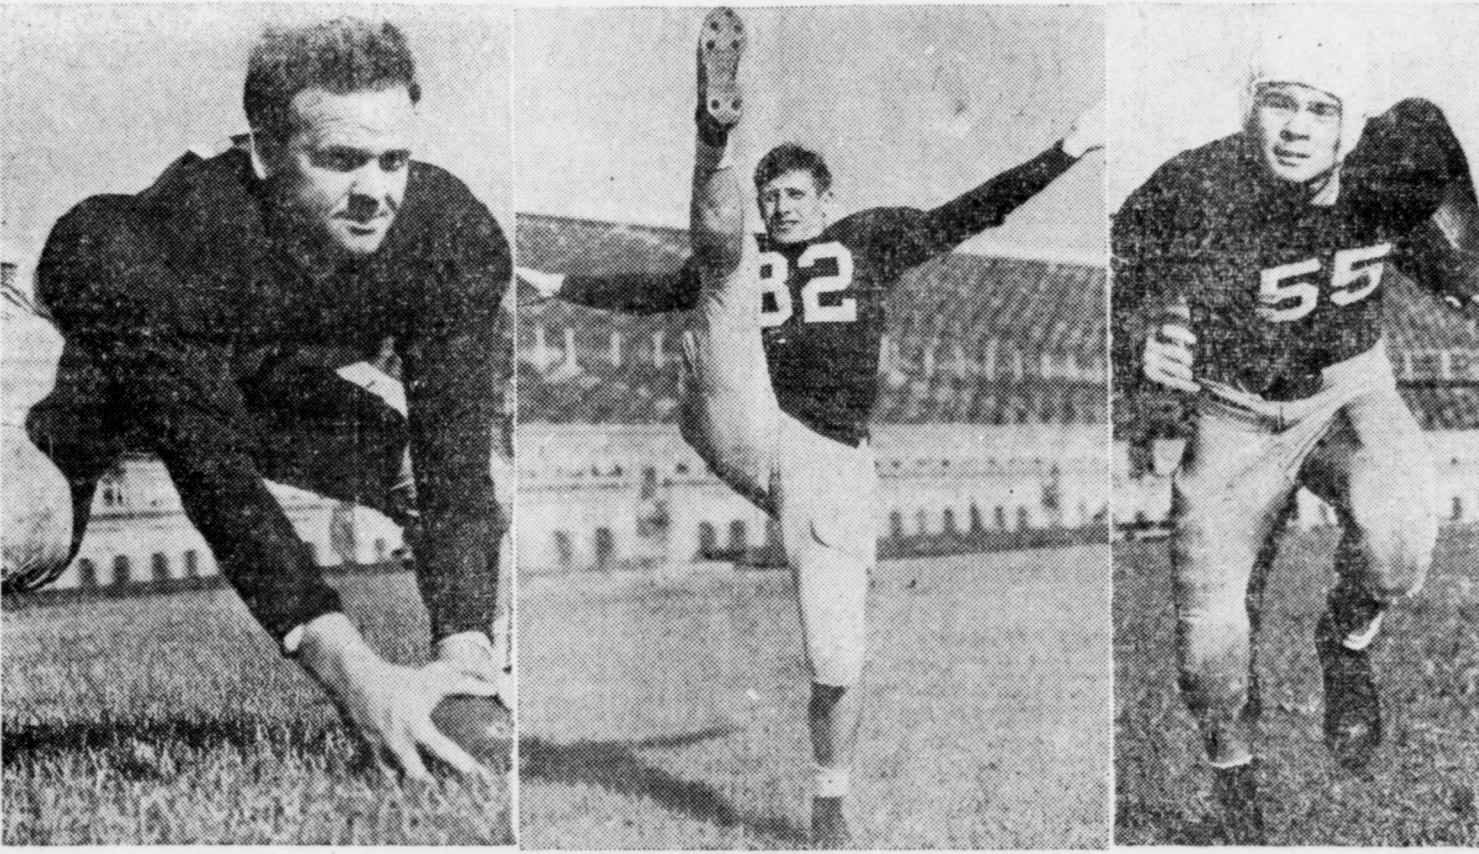

UK band members might be interested in knowing that a 1930 musician had to leave his horn with a Knoxville cab driver in lieu of a fare. That same year the "Best Band in Dixie" was marching along a Knoxville street when a drunk fell into ranks, mumbling something about his old Army days.

A much more recent episode came in 1944, when the 'Cats again trekked to the UT site. Just 15 miles out of Knoxville a tunnel on the railroad fell in, the train reached town 16 hours later. No passage for cars or busses was available, as the dirt avalanche had happened in an inaccessible spot in the mountains. The Wildcats were due in Knoxville at 3 in the afternoon, got there at 5 the next morning. Best chuckle of the whole affair is the fact that many out-of-state gridders were in the traveling squad, took all the ribbing about Kentucky and Tennessee mountaineers seriously. They wouldn't even leave the train for a stretch, so certain were they of feudin' hillbillies, or "revenueers." Tennessee won the game, 26-13.

Walker Switch Pays

One senior in Saturday's struggle—Charley Bill Walker, center—has good reason to remember his last performance in Shields-Watkins stadium. In 1942 Clyde Johnson, tackle who became Kentucky's first All-American, was injured just before the windup. Walker, first-string center, was switched to tackle, and sophomore Jay Rhodemyre, now 'Cat starting pivotman, filled in at the middle. For his great play in that game Walker was named on the Tennessee all-opponents team, picked by Vol gridders.

Even the Beecats have been involved in stories as aftermaths of Tennessee trips. The 1939 freshman squad—this fall, by the way, is the last year wartime rulings will allow first-year men on the varsity—trekked to Knoxville to meet the Vol yearlings. Kentucky's frosh had dressed and were all taped up for the game when Tennessee called the game off. The varsity was out of town, was to meet a big opponent at home the next weekend. A rain which had left Tennessee's turf soggy made athletic authorities fear the field would be too torn up after the freshman fray. They were unable to secure a Knoxville high school gridiron, because just prior to that the university had refused a high school permission to use Shield-Watkins stadium. So the high school realized a sort of revenge. Phil Cutchin, 'Cat senior and key man of this year's varsity, was on the Kitten squad then.

No Bowl Teams Yet

No definite nominees have been named for the Tobacco Bowl contest December 14, but a huge list of possibilities has been narrowed down to about 18 candidates. Among these are Mississippi State, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Alabama, William and Mary, Delaware, St. Bonaventure, Penn State and Hardin-Simmons.

Kentucky is also among these, but the 'Cats are interested right now only in their tilt with the Vols this weekend. Rumor has it that a big bowl game awaits the Wildcats if they top Tennessee, but this lacks verification.

No Slip-Ups This Year
Many other episodes have occurred down through the years. For instance there are the times when Kentucky players slept little or none at all, because of boisterous parties in and around their hotel, self-appointed emissaries running up and down hotel corridors shouting "Yea, Vols!" or a "We'll beat you tomorrow" theme. Coach Paul Bryant is making sure nothing like that will happen this year. The Wildcats will stay in or around their Pullmans until gametime, though the train reaches Knoxville shortly after midnight.

Three seniors playing their last collegiate game will be co-captains of the 'Cats against Tennessee Saturday. They are halfbacks Phil Cutchin and Jesse Tunstall and center Charley Bill Walker. All have won three varsity letters in football, came back to UK to complete careers after military duty. Cutchin is second to Phelps among Wildcat scorers with 35 points, has accounted for almost half of the team's passing yardage and leads the 'Cats afield. One other senior, Bill Portwood, will not be in uniform because of injuries.

Ky. BeeCats Finish Season With 4-2-1 Final Count

Last week-end the Kentucky BeeCats listed a rousing 41-20 win over the Georgetown varsity to give them a final season count of four wins, two losses, and one tie. The junior varsity had little trouble in overcoming the Tigers, and Coach Bill McCubbin used every man in the final engagement.

In addition to the Tigers, the Kentucky understudies have trampled Fort Knox twice this season and split with Miami university in two games. The tie on their record is a 7-7 affair played in their opening game with Morehead. The other loss was a 13-7 setback handed them by the Tennessee B-team. Although they have wound up their season the BeeCats will get together tomorrow morning and journey by special bus to Knoxville to witness the annual scrap between the two varsities. Several members of the JV's, who have been being pushed around all year by the big boys, may get to see action in the scrap. Any way they will be on hand to lend their moral support and maybe toss in a few suggestions from what they learned two weeks ago in their match on Shields-Watkins field.
